Coolidge Modifies Mitchell's Sentence

PENALTY ON PLANE CRITIC IS CUT DOWN

Convicted Man to Get All His Allowance and One-Half of Monthly Salary
SUSPENSION TO STAND

Removal from Active Service for Five Years Is Not Altered by President
(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 25.—President Coolidge today modified the sentence of five years' suspension from the army and loss of rank and pay imposed on Col. William Mitchell, for criticizing the war and navy departments, and administration of aviation in particular.

Colonel Mitchell will be given all of his allowances and one-half of the monthly pay he would draw while not actively flying, amounting to $297.67 a month, or about $4760 a year.

The five-year sentence of suspension from active duty stands. Mitchell was sentenced December 17 by an army general court of nine generals and one colonel, which found him guilty of violating the 96th article of war, through his press statements of September 5 and 8, issued immediately following the Shenandoah disaster.

The president modified the decision of the court martial as to pay and allowances, increasing slightly the recommendations of the judge advocate general, but following completely the recommendations of the secretary of war so that hereafter, during the pleasure of the president, Mitchell will be entitled to all his allowances and one-half monthly pay, which he would draw while not actually engaged in flying. This makes a total of $297.67 per month, or about $4760 per year, the White House statement said.

The sentence is imposed (as to five years' suspension) and will be duly executed except as hereinafter provided, the statement said.

Following the recommendation of the secretary of war, the execution of so much of the sentence as adjudges forfeiture of all the allowances and one-half of the monthly pay of the accused, making a total of $297.67 monthly is during the pleasure of the president suspended.

In approving the five-year suspension, the president said: "The theory of government implies that every official, so long as he retains office, shall report himself with respect toward his superiors. This is especially true of those in the military service. Unless the rule is applied, there could be no discipline in the army and navy, without which those two forces would not only be without value as a means of defense, but would become actually a menace to society."

Herbert Bramall, the butler, had answered the front door bell. As he opened the door, there was a shot and he staggered back, clutching at his heart. He died a moment later.

Police believe it was the work of a maniac.

BUTLER SLAIN BY MANIAC AS HE OPENS DOOR

(By United Press)
NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—New York's most wealthy residence block, where the names of John D. Rockefeller Jr., Chauncey M. Depew and others almost as well known are etched on silver door plates—was surrounded by a police guard today as a result of the startling murder of a butler last night at the home of James R. Deering.

Herbert Bramall, the butler, had answered the front door bell. As he opened the door, there was a shot and he staggered back, clutching at his heart. He died a moment later.

Police believe it was the work of a maniac.

Noted Guests to Be with Former Emperor in Exile Festivities

(By United Press)
BERLIN, Jan. 25.—Wilhelm II, once Germany's "all-highest" monarch and the mightiest ruler in the eastern hemisphere, will celebrate his 67th birthday anniversary in Doorn. This is the ex-kaiser's eighth birthday in exile.

Unless carefully laid plans go awry, tomorrow's event will differ from preceding birthday parties in that numerous distinguished guests will participate in the festivities. Among the guests will be Dutch aristocrats, with whom the ex-kaiser has become befriended during his banishment, and who look upon the illustrious exile with favor because of the world-wide fame which he has brought to this Holland resort.

The birthday will be commemorated by the former royal ceremony, except that the limited housing accommodations at Doorn will render impossible the pomp and circumstances of similar occasions at Berlin.

Among the guests who are expected to convey their congratulations to the ex-emperor in person are the crown prince, the ex-monarch's brother, Prince Heinrich, the leaders of various faiths in the League of Nations, a post-war royalist organization, also will send a representative to Doorn for the first time to assure Wilhelm of its unswerving loyalty to the banished dynasty.

Divine services will be held in the dining room during the morning. A former royal chaplain will conduct the service from an altar, adorned with laurels from the ex-kaiser's hothouse. The ex-kaiser and his wife, Hermine, accompanied by their daughters, Princess Caroline-Mathilde and Princess Henriette, the crown prince, the duke and duchess of Braunschweig and Lüneburg and Prince Heinrich, will be seated in the first row. Guests from Germany and Holland will sit behind the royal exiles and the last rows will be occupied by faithful household servants.

Kaiser Suggests Text
As text for the sermon, Wilhelm has proposed the passage from St. John, chapter XVII, verse 24: "Father, I will that they also, whom thou hast given me, be with me where I am; that they may behold my glory, which thou hast given me; for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world."

The spirit of the ceremony will be dictated by an utterance which the ex-kaiser made recently among a circle of intimate friends, "At last I understand," he said, "what the invisible kingdom of Jesus means. We are not on earth merely to be happy, but to save our souls."

Following the religious services, the company will adjourn to dinner, at which Prince Heinrich will propose a toast to his imperial majesty.

Other contestants will include E. W. Butler, 82; Dr. Thomas K. Howe, 84; Oren C. Page, 81, and Mrs. Nellie Gilley, wife of the left-handed champion, who plays harmonica accompaniment for her husband, besides fiddlin' a bit now and then.

Committeemen are seeking to get Edward L. Doherty, oil magnate, to sponsor and judge the event.

CARVES BODY OF MILLINER; HIDES PARTS

Woman Commits Suicide in His Office, Doctor Says, Then He Hacked Corpse
ACCUSED OF MURDER

Puts Legs, Arms and Torso In Auto and Hides Them In Wood; Forgets Head
(By United Press)

MEDIA, Pa., Jan. 25.—David L. Marshall, chiropractor, under arrest here charged with the murder of Miss Anna May Dietrich, today confessed to Prosecutor Taylor that he had dismembered the decapitated body and concealed the parts where they were found at widely separated places in Delaware county.

Marshall, in his statement, which came after 12 hours of questioning, said he did not kill Miss Dietrich, but disposed of her body after she had committed suicide by taking poison.

Marshall said he met the milliner by appointment near his office late Tuesday afternoon. She appeared ill and depressed, he said, and upon talking to her, she said she had been jilted by a wealthy suitor, a man named Nichols, from New York, for whom she had thrown overboard a man.

He endeavored to comfort her, Marshall said, and suggested she come up to his office and rest. She did so and Marshall later went out alone to dinner. On his return, he said, he found the couch unoccupied and heard moans coming from the bathroom of his office.

Entering, he found Miss Dietrich on the floor, partially conscious, with a bottle of white crystals beside her. He carried her to the adjoining table in the outer office, administered an emetic and attempted to revive her. As he worked over her, she died, he said.

Being panic-stricken, fearing he would be accused of her murder, Marshall locked his office and left for home. After spending a sleepless night considering the matter, he returned Wednesday morning, purchased several surgical instruments, went to the office and dismembered the body.

The parts were carefully wrapped in newspapers, Marshall said he put them in his machine and drove into Delaware county. Coming to a lonely spot of woods on the Palmer Mill road, near Rose Tree, he carried the packages in which the torso and legs were wrapped a short way into the woods and dropped them in the underbrush.

The tools with which he dismembered the body were thrown away. Shaken with his experience, Marshall said, he returned to his office and was horrified to find that in his panic he had overlooked the girl's head, which lay staring at him from the floor, unwrapped. Wrapping it in newspapers, he hid it in the office through the day. Wednesday night, on his way to his home, he dropped the head under the pier of a railroad trestle at Naylor's Run, where it was found by county detectives, Saturday noon.

When he returned to his cell after his statement, Marshall begged Prosecutor Taylor to see that his family was cared for. Marshall, who lives not far from the Norwood home, where Miss Dietrich lived with her sister and brother-in-law, is 42 years old, has been married some years, and is the father of several children.

Chinese War Lord Yields To Russians

(By United Press)
PEKING, Jan. 25.—Gen. Chang Tso Lin was reported today to have heeded the soviet government's sharp warning to him to release Russian Manager Ivanoff, of the Chinese Eastern railway, together with other officials and workmen seized by his troops.

Soviet Envoy Karakhan received consular advice from Harbin saying that the Manchurian "war lord" had ordered their release after receiving the plain hint that Chang would be taking upon himself "serious responsibilities" if he failed to free them.

Meantime, other Harbin advice quoted Chang, however, as charging Russian with using "minor troubles" of the railway as a pretext to seize the "Chinese Eastern."

RECORD FLIGHT EFFORT DELAYED
MCCOOK FIELD, DAYTON, O., Jan. 25.—Due to atmospheric conditions, Lt. John A. MacReady today postponed his projected flight to recapture the world's altitude record.

"Visibility is poor and weather conditions are not as favorable as I would like them," MacReady said, expressing disappointment at the necessity of postponing the test.

MacReady will attempt the flight "at the first opportunity, the weather permitting," he said.

The present altitude record of 39,000 feet is held by Calisto, the French airplane, which established the mark some months ago. MacReady is confident he will attain 40,000 feet and hopes to ascend eight miles.

ARRESTS ORDERED IN DRUG DEATHS
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25.—Arrest of two attendants at the Los Angeles General hospital for alleged responsibility for the deaths of two women from anesthetic overdoses was ordered today by District Attorney Asa Keyes.

Warrants were issued for Leo Wagner Jr. and Jack Brothner. It is charged that Wagner and Brothner mixed the triple compounds of novocaine, which a coroner's jury decided was the cause of deaths of two women patients on the operating table.

They are to be prosecuted on allegations of a felony under Section 380 of the criminal code, not a manslaughter charge.

GAINS FREEDOM

Richard "Blackie" Ford, who was acquitted of the second murder in the 1913 Wheatland hop riot, by a jury at Marysville, after 77 hours' deliberation. Ford will start life over again at Longview, Wn.

JURY FINALLY ACQUITS FORD IN DEATH CASE
(By United Press)

MARYSVILLE, Calif., Jan. 25.—Acquitted of the second murder in the 1913 Wheatland hop riot, Richard "Blackie" Ford today prepared to leave for Longview, Wn., to go to work and start life all over again.

The jury considering the charge that he was responsible for the death of Deputy Sheriff Eugene Reardon brought in its verdict after 77 hours of consideration, precipitating a furor in court which caused Judge C. O. Buswick to have two spectators arrested for contempt.

Ford will take up civil life where he left it 12 years ago, when he went to prison under a life sentence for the death of District Attorney E. T. Manwell, in the Wheatland riot. Paroled last October, Ford immediately was arrested at the instance of District Attorney Ray Manwell, son of the former prosecutor.

The courtroom was a bedlam when the jury's announcement broke the long strain of waiting. Friends hailed Ford and his son, Richard Jr., to their shoulders.

The verdict brought a denunciation from Judge Buswick, who declared it "un-American."

A position in Washington had been secured for Ford when he was paroled last year, and under the terms of that parole he now will go there, accompanied by his son, who had lived with Tulare county relatives during his father's prison term.

ALUMINUM QUIZ COMES TO CLOSE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The Aluminum inquiry, conducted by the senate judiciary committee to ascertain if the department of justice exercised due diligence in prosecuting an investigation of the Mellon-controlled Aluminum Company of America, closed suddenly today.

Senator Walsh, Montana Democrat, intimated that he would ask the senate to widen the scope of the investigation, so that it can go further into the facts and investigate the aluminum company itself.

Walsh said he had contemplated putting one more witness on the stand, but found this was not necessary for his purpose. A report to the senate on the investigation will be made immediately, Walsh added.

The vessel enroute from San Francisco and Astoria, was due to arrive here this afternoon.

WORLD COURT ISSUE WINS IN ROLL CALL

League Democrats Join 37 Administration Republicans in Limiting Debate

VICTORY BY COOLIDGE

For Second Time in Its History, Drastic Order Is Made by Upper House

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 25.—For the second time in its history, the U. S. senate today adopted the drastic cloture rule, thus limiting debate upon the resolution for American adherence to the world court of justice.

The vote was 68 to 26, five more than the necessary two-thirds.

The action forecasts adoption of the court resolution and consideration of the tax reduction bill, which will cut payments due March 15.

League Democrats Join
Thirty-seven administration Republicans combined with 31 League of Nations Democrats in favor of cloture. Against the cloture were 13 Republicans, mostly western, seven Democrats and one Farmer-Laborite.

The roll call:

For cloture (68):
Republicans (37)—Bingham, Butler, Capper, Coughlin, Cummins, Curtis, Edge, Deneen, Ernst, Fess, Gillett, Goff, Gooding, Greene, Hale, Jones of Washington, Keyes, Lenroot, McKinley, McLean, McMaster, McNary, Metcalf, Norbeck, Oddie, Pepper, Phipps, Reed, of Pennsylvania; Sackett, Schall, Shortridge, Smoot, Stanford, Wadsworth, Warren, Wells and Willis.

Vote Against Cloture

Against cloture, (26):
Republicans (18)—Borah, Brookhart, Cameron, Dale, Fernald, Frazier, Harrell, Howell, Johnson, La Follette, Means, Moses, Norris, Nye, Pine, Robinson, of Indiana; Watson and Williams.

Democrats (7)—Blease, Broussard, Dill, Reed, of Missouri; Smith, Stephens, Wheeler.

Farmer-Labor (1)—Shipstead.

Absentees: Copeland, Democrat, and Du Pont, Republican.

The cloture rule was used only once before, in the Versailles treaty fight. Henceforth, under its provisions, no senator will be permitted to speak more than one hour. No other business can be considered until a vote is taken upon the court and no further amendments to the court resolution can be presented.

Dawes Puts Question
As the bell upon the historic old clock over the door sounded the hour of 1, a quorum call was ordered and then Vice President Charles G. Dawes, who campaigned the country last summer in favor of limited debate rules, put the question: "Is the sense of the senate that the debate shall be drawn to a close?"

The action was taken in accordance with the mandate given him Friday night, when 48 senators presented a petition under Rule 22, which specifies that any motion to move senators sign a motion a vote upon cloture must be taken by the senate two days after.

The rule gives the right to invoke cloture if two-thirds of the senators present vote in favor of it. Debate upon the world court resolution opened December 17, but did not become lively until after the Christmas recess. For the last two weeks, 18 irreconcilables, who have been fighting against the court, have held the floor almost continuously.

They protested that it would involve this country in European politics.

Charge Subtle Filibuster
The pro-court leaders charged that the irreconcilables were conducting a subtle filibuster. Every possible means was tried to get an agreement by unanimous consent to vote upon the court some time in the future, but each presentation of an agreement was blocked by Senator Cole Blease, South Carolina Democrat.

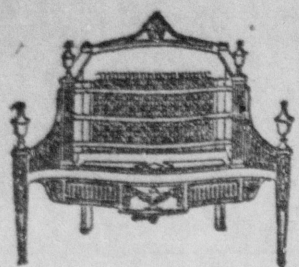

After the future cloture motion was presented Friday, none of the irreconcilables would consent to an agreement because they believed a gag rule club was being used against them in an unparliamentary and unethical manner.

The irreconcilables threatened that if the gag rule should be adopted they would see that it was used when the next anti-lynching bill comes up to be filibustered by the southern Democrats.

The vote was preceded by an unprecedented stormy scene.

Last-minute efforts were made to get an agreement that would

POISON CANDY PRINCIPAL IN LAND TANGLE

Dr. Franklin Kerr, Garden Grove physician, recently convicted of sending poisoned candy through the mails to his wife, took the witness stand today in Superior Judge E. J. Marks' court, to tell the inside story of his dealings with Rush Meadows, former Hollywood attorney, who, engaged to defend Dr. Kerr, is alleged to have fraudulently secured title to Dr. Kerr's property.

Testifying today at the trial of his suit to recover the property, Dr. Kerr said, in substance, that Meadows had not defended him nor given any value for the deeds he holds. Meadows, ex-football star and prominent clubman, whose arrest a few months ago on various criminal charges was followed by the alleged disclosure that, although he had conducted many notable court trials, he never had been admitted to the bar in this state, appeared here today with his attorneys to contest the action. Attorney S. M. Reinhaus, of Scarborough, Forney and Reinhaus, Santa Ana, and Attorneys G. F. McCulloch and Lundon Bowring, of Los Angeles, represented him. Attorneys Hugh L. Dickson and E. T. Dunn, of Los Angeles, were counsel for Dr. Kerr.

Dr. Kerr was the first witness called. He said that, following his arrest on the charge of mailing poisoned candy to his estranged wife, Dr. Luella Kerr, Meadows visited him in the Los Angeles county jail. Representing himself as an attorney, sent by the Los Angeles legal firm of Cooper, Collins and Shreve, Meadows, it was said, told Dr. Kerr that his wife had planned so many civic suits against him that the physician would be financially ruined. To save his property, Meadows suggested that Dr. Kerr deed it to him, the witness said. Meadows, he said, told him that in that way the attorney would be able to use the property in procuring bail for Dr. Kerr's release.

Meadows never defended him against the criminal charge nor secured his release on bail, Dr. Kerr said. His release, it was said, came through other quarters.

Attorney John C. Cooper, of Cooper, Collins and Shreve, testified that when the dealings between Meadows and Dr. Kerr were called to his attention, he told Meadows that he, Meadows, had no right to "do business that way." He directed Meadows, who, he said, was a law student in Cooper's office, to draw up a new deed, transferring Dr. Kerr's property back to its owner.

Cooper further testified that he had been told by a Mrs. Conley that she had gone through a marriage ceremony with Meadows, in Tia Juana, in August, 1924, and had transferred a large amount of money to Meadows. Meadows, she told Cooper, had transferred the Kerr deed to her.

Meadows subsequently was arrested on a charge of having narcotics in his possession and was involved in several other charges.

RUG BURGLAR'S LOOT AWAITING IDENTIFICATION

More than 20 persons, victims of the Orange county "rug burglar," will gather at the Orange county jail tomorrow morning to identify their recovered goods, most of which has been recovered by Sheriff Sam Jernigan, after a search of almost a score of pawnshops and second hand stores in Southern California, following the capture of James Wilton, 19, self-styled rug burglar.

The loot, stored in Sheriff Jernigan's private office for the last several days, was moved into the jail court today and is laid out so that persons, whose homes were robbed, can see it and identify it.

The loot is valued at thousands of dollars and, although it is in the jail, with iron bars all around, a special officer has been detailed to watch it until it is claimed by its owners.

The jail court resembles a department store, so varied and numerous are the articles. Rugs adorn one corner of the court; radios another and still another is taken up with carpet sweepers and other valuable household articles. In the meantime, James Wilton is sitting behind the bars, in his cell, awaiting arraignment in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court. He probably will be arraigned tomorrow morning, it was said today.

Wilton led officers to a number of pawnshops last week, picking out article after article, which he had pawned or sold to the proprietors. He also featured in an attempted get-away last Friday when he struck Dan Adams, deputy sheriff, on the head with an improvised blackjack, which consisted of a piece of soap, tied in a large handkerchief.

POOR CHILDREN ARE UNABLE TO ATTEND SCHOOL

The difficulty of enforcing the provisions of the California school law in the cases of Mexican parents, because of extreme poverty, was brought to the fore today, when E. Adami, a Mexican ranch laborer, of Westminster, was arrested and brought into court for failing to send his children to school.

Investigation brought out that Adami is a widower with six children, the oldest of whom is a girl of 12. While the duties of a mother have fallen upon the shoulders of the daughter, the California school law requires that the daughter shall go to school. The father, to keep his family from starving, is obliged to be absent from the home. Notwithstanding the father's efforts to keep his family supplied with the barest necessities, his small earnings, averaging about $3 a day, have failed to keep the children supplied with clothing, which, according to Adami, is one of the reasons why his children have not been able to attend school.

Upon learning of the destitute condition of the family, the father was released by the court and the case was referred to the county welfare department for necessary action.

Human Vanity

What wholesale misery is caused in this great world of ours
by HUMAN VANITY!

Thousands of men and women ruin their whole life and happiness in a vain attempt to satisfy a desire to do something or own something that is impossible, and remain happy—just HUMAN VANITY.

To buy something you cannot afford just because a relative, friend or neighbor in seemingly no better circumstances than you, have a like article—just HUMAN VANITY.

If you were to stand on my salesroom floor, not occasionally, but every day, and see the owners of big automobiles trying to get out from under a purchase they could not afford—almost in a panic because of their losses—just results of HUMAN VANITY.

What are you going to do? Are you going to make the same mistake and join them in their misery, or are you going to buy an automobile you can afford to buy, to operate and maintain which is the NEW CHEVROLET. A good looking car beyond anything you ever imagined possible in a car so low in price, a car that is so well designed and built of the best possible material throughout, its maintenance cost is almost at the zero mark, a car that includes all of the up-to-date refinements of high-priced automobiles.

Do not take my word for it. Ask any of the 500,000 SATISFIED OWNERS that used good judgment during 1925 by buying the NEW CHEVROLET.

You owe it to yourself to at least "take a look." Come in and drive the car, examine it carefully. This absolutely without any obligation on your part—just look and satisfy yourself.

Sir Conan Doyle Advises Authors

LONDON, Jan. 25.—"Young authors often make the mistake of trying to unload cargo all the time without taking any on," the warning Sir Arthur Conan Doyle gave young authors an address before the Savoy club.
"Writers have to read and study and travel and keep in touch with all that is going on if they want to make their work interesting," the creator of Sherlock Holmes said.
"And above all, nobody should try to write unless he simply can't help it. Real writers can't prevent themselves from writing."

What Skinny Men Ought to Know

Gain Weight and Strength in 30 Days or Money Back

You probably know that Cod Liver Oil is the greatest flesh producer in the world. Because it contains more vitamins than any other food you can get.
You'll be glad to know that Cod Liver Oil comes in sugar-coated tablets now, so if you really want to put 10 or 20 pounds of real healthy flesh on your bones and feel well and strong ask White Cross Drug Co., C. S. Kelley Drug Co., Mateer's or any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.
Only 60 cents for 60 tablets, and if you don't gain five pounds in 30 days your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.
It isn't anything unusual for a person to gain in 30 days. "Get McCoy's, the original and the Cod Liver Oil Tablet."

BANK WOULDN'T HONOR CHECKS; SUIT IS FILED

A bank that refused to honor a $12 check and returned it with the marking "not sufficient funds," today was sued for $3050 damages by the check writer.

S. C. Shepard filed the damage action in superior court against the First Commercial bank of Orange. Refusal of the bank to honor two of his checks, one for $12 and another for $10, injured his "good name, reputation and credit" to the extent of $3000, he alleges.

In addition to that amount, he asks judgment for $50, the sum he claims he had on deposit in the bank when his checks were returned there, Attorney O. A. Jacobs, of Santa Ana, represents Shepard in the action. The suit is one almost unique in local court annals.

In his complaint, Shepard claims that he deposited $75 in the bank last November 14. On November 28, with a bank balance of $50 he wrote a check for $12, in favor of Mrs. Ella Robinson, boarding house keeper in Orange. The bank is said to have refused to honor the check.

Two days later, having called the bank's attention to the matter, he wrote another check for $10, also in favor of Mrs. Robinson, who indorsed the check to N. J. Whitney. That check met the same fate as its predecessor, Shepard states. The second refusal added $2000 to his damage claim.

Since he appears to have no access to the $50 bank account he claims to have, Shepard asks the court to order payment of $50 to him by the bank.

HONEYMOON IS ENDED IN SAN DIEGO BASTILE

Marguerite Anna McDonald and Clifford Leroy Plunkett, who were married in Santa Ana January 6, were looking back today on a brief honeymoon—looking through the bars of the San Diego county jail.

The trouble with the honeymoon, according to advices received here today from San Diego, was that Plunkett wasn't Marguerite's legal husband. She had left her legal husband in San Diego, with her two-year-old daughter.

Harry Entley, who claims he married Marguerite five years ago, caused the arrest of the couple in Los Angeles, several days after the elopement to Santa Ana.

According to Entley's story to the San Diego authorities, his wife left a good home, husband and daughter, but didn't leave the family bankroll, amounting to $3400. With that, she had purchased a handsome "coach" for Plunkett who lived next door. Entley obligingly taught Plunkett how to operate the car, not knowing his money had bought it. Then his wife ran away with Plunkett in the car, taking what money was left in the bank account.

Mrs. Entley was 38 and Plunkett was 26. At the marriage license bureau here, they gave their ages as 34 and 32, respectively. Mrs. Entley gave her maiden name, McDonald, and her residence as Los Angeles. In her application for a license, she stated that she was divorced. Plunkett gave his residence as Santa Monica. His occupation, he admitted, was "none." It is said that he receives $50 per month from the government.

Having decided to marry under her maiden name, Mrs. Entley gave the fictitious name of Knight, as her maiden name, which is required on the license application. She gave her father's name as Charles Knight, native of France.

Entley traced the couple to Santa Ana and then to Los Angeles where he caused their arrest. Mrs. Entley will be charged with bigamy, it is said.

Entley hasn't been able to locate the coach.

RELATIVES SEARCH FOR MISSING MAN

Fear that William H. Lee, laborer, met foul play, resulting in his disappearance, while working in Orange county, a year ago, was expressed here today by his brother, John E. Lee, 6314 Sherman way, Van Nuys.

Lee often carried large sums of money with him and relatives are alarmed over his disappearance. At times he carried as much as $300 with him, it was said. He never deposited his money in a bank but preferred to keep it until he could give it to his mother, living in Van Nuys, whom he was supporting.

Lee has not been heard from since last October, when he was working on a chicken ranch near Garden Grove. The location of the chicken ranch is not known. He came regularly to Santa Ana to see Frank Musselman and N. Karp, local business men, it was said.

It has been ascertained that the missing man has not gone to see other relatives. Messages to relatives in Calexico, Okanagan, Wn. and Minnesota have revealed no clues of his whereabouts.

You can't stay where you are

You turn through a kodak album and smile at old-style clothes. Skirts cluttering the ankles . . . hats perched high on hair . . . wasp waists . . . awkward sleeves—odd how your taste has changed.

Yet day by day your taste changes in all you wear and do. You don't like the same books, enjoy the same movies, choose the same underwear, prefer the same soap you did a short while ago. You are so used to the better, you wonder why you liked the old. Advertisements make you know the better as soon as it's proved to be better. They tell of good things accepted as good taste in the best homes. The hosiery, glass-curtains, lighting fixtures other moderns use; why their use is preferred. Advertisements influence so many around you, sooner or later you'll feel the change. Even if you never read an advertisement, you'll use in time some of the conveniences which advertisements urge you to use today. Advertisements form a tide of taste that sweeps you forward; you can't stand still. Since you'll enjoy what they advertise anyway, why not begin enjoying it now?

"Katherine Tingley's Raja-Yoga system of education, inaugurated by her at Point Loma, in 1900, has become famous the world over, and her school has enrolled students from 26 nations. Young artists from the Isis conservatory, which is attached to the Raja-Yoga college, will supply an excellent program of classical music here. Their playing has been highly commended both by the press of European musical centers, including Berlin and Nuremberg, Germany, London, Manchester and Liverpool, England, Amsterdam and The Hague, Holland, Stockholm and Gothenburg, Sweden, and in Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C. in this country.

"Katherine Tingley in no way indorses the sensational claims emanating from certain pseudo-theosophists in India, concerning an imaginary 'coming Christ,' whom they are sponsoring. Her work is strictly common-sense, practical and tending to the spiritual advancement of the human race."

Divorce Sought By Picture Star Married In S. A.

Ethel Shannon, motion picture actress, who was married to Robert J. Cary, Los Angeles business man, in Santa Ana, two years ago, has sued for divorce in Los Angeles, it was learned today.

The Shannon-Cary marriage took place in August, 1923, but was kept secret from their friends until January, 1924. Six months later, they had separated. In her complaint, the actress charges desertion. Cary now is living in the middle west, it is said.

Miss Shannon became prominent in motion pictures several years ago. She appeared with Syd Chaplin in "Charley's Aunt."

A car owned by C. N. Shirley, La Habra, was stolen Saturday night from a parking place near Tenth and Main streets, here.

Ygnio Jimenez, East Seventeenth street, Tustin, reported that his machine was stolen from near the dance hall in Delhi, about 11:30 Saturday night.

Santa Ana police were given descriptions of the three machines.

5000 STUDENTS IN SANTA ANA ARE PROMOTED

More than 5000 students enrolled in the city schools of Santa Ana will change classes and move up a rung on the educational ladder next Friday, it was announced today at the board of education offices.

Commencement programs will mark the promotion in the senior high school and the two junior high schools, it was said. No formal exercises will be held in the grammar schools, where the promotions will be effected in the course of ordinary routine.

In the Anaheim schools, 62 pupils completed eighth grade studies last Friday and will be admitted to the ninth grade of the senior high school. County Superintendent R. P. Mitchell announced today.

MISS ROPER WILL WED E. K. JORDAN

Old-time residents of Santa Ana and friends of the pioneer families of H. H. Roper and W. B. Hervey will be interested in the announcement that Miss Elizabeth Hervey Roper, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman B. Roper, of 872 Kensington road, Los Angeles, and Eric Knight Jordan, youngest son of Dr. David Starr Jordan, chancellor emeritus of Stanford university and Mrs. Jordan, will be married on February 6, at noon. A wedding breakfast to follow the ceremonies, which, it is understood will take place in Palo Alto.

Miss Roper's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Roper, and her aunt, Mrs. Norman Roper, and her aunt, for whom she was named, were Stanford graduates, and she was graduated from that institution last June. Mr. Jordan recently returned from a geological expedition under auspices of the California Academy of Science, San Francisco. Miss Roper is a member of the Alpha Phi sorority.

Much interest attaches to this marriage, as a great deal of Santa Ana history surrounds the two families, prominent in the early life of the city.

H. H. Roper came here in the early days from Santa Clara, in company with the Wests, Palmers and others from the north, seeking homes in the new country. Mr. Roper had a ranch south of town, which he owned for many years, later removed to the city and for years was Santa Ana's building inspector. The family resided at the corner of Sixth and Birch streets, where Mr. and Mrs. Roper passed away.

The Hervey family made its home on the corner of Broadway and Sixth street, where the Smith and Tutill establishment now is located, a part of the old home being remodelled into the present structure.

The romance of Norman Roper and his neighbor, Miss Annie Hervey, began at this corner. Norman Roper, after graduating from Stanford, became a prominent electrical engineer, traveling to many parts of the world and finally accepting a responsible position in the mines of Peru, where he resided until a few years ago, when he returned to Los Angeles, where his family resided. The Herveys had many years before left Santa Ana to live in Los Angeles. W. B. Hervey passed away several years ago, but Mrs. Hervey, now 78 years of age, survives him.

W. Rhodes Hervey, prominent jurist, clubman and Mason, of Los Angeles, is an uncle of the bride.

THE FATHER OF "LITTLE WOMEN"

Editor Register—Probably no book ever written in the United States has been so widely read and entered into so many American homes as Louisa Alcott's "Little Women."

It is a book typical of wholesome American life, and has created a sympathetic understanding and a bond of unity throughout our whole country.

There is at present an opportunity before the public of getting a vision and insight into the home life of the author's childhood and her family. In McCall's magazine under the title of "The Father of Little Women" is published the diary of Amos Bronson Alcott reaching back to 1809. In the light of a century of progress this diary makes very interesting reading and I would like to call the attention of the public to it.

I take a deep personal interest in this publication for one of my most cherished experiences was a short but close association with Mr. Alcott in which I had the opportunity of hearing his lectures and sermons and his daily conversation.

Thanking you for space in The Register,

Sunset Clubman Made Guest of Honor at Birthday Dinner

THURSDAY, January 21, was made a happy day indeed for one of the city's prominent clubmen, Hervey T. Trueblood, whose home at 618 South Main street, was made the scene of a merry party celebrating the anniversary of his birth.

Mrs. Trueblood planned the affair to call together old-time friends of Indiana, the home state of the family. Mr. Trueblood's retirement from active business life and their choice of California as a home. The guests assembled in the forenoon hours in readiness for an elaborate mid-day dinner with roast young orange county turkey as the piece de resistance.

Mrs. Trueblood chose orchid and rose as the attractive color harmony for the birthday feast, employing many sweet peas in crystal baskets and sparkling candlesticks to adorn the table. The central position was occupied by a huge birthday cake nestled in rose and orchid tints, each for each of the host's eventful years, with an extra one for good fortune. The cake, a work of art as well as a toothsome delight, was baked by Mrs. Irma Hertford and Miss Sara Hayes of Hollywood, and presented to their host with birthday greetings.

Guests found their places at the table by means of clever cards in rose and orchid tints, each bearing amusing jingles which were read aloud in turn, adding to the gaiety of the hour. A very clever card among gifts and greetings presented to Mr. Trueblood, illustrated different important birthdays and gave rise to many guesses as to which he represented. "Ambitious 30; wise 40; cautious 50; companionable 60; youthful 70 or admirable 80."

Mr. Trueblood came to Santa Ana following his retirement from active business life, and has taken on prominent part in Masonic and club circles, being especially prominent in the city's famous Sunset club. He and Mrs. Trueblood divide their time between their pleasant home on South Main street and a delightful mountain cabin, "Fernbanks," at Forest Home where genial hospitality always awaits Santa Ana friends as well as those from the former Indiana home.

Guests at the birthday festivity were all drawn from the list of old-time friends and business associates in the Hoosier state and included a former partner, L. C. Brooks of Logansport, Ind., and Mrs. Brooks, who are wintering in Long Beach. Others from Long Beach were Mr. and Mrs. Noah Moser, Mr. and Mrs. George Whiting and Mrs. Mary C. Shirley. Guests also included Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Gibson of Pasadena, Mrs. Anna H. Gibson of Los Angeles, Mrs. Irma Hertford and Miss Sara Hayes of Hollywood. In the hours of happy reminiscence following the dinner, many references were made to the "good old times in the Hoosier state," but all felt that such a reunion would perhaps not have been possible if the guests had not sought balmy, sun-kissed Southern California.

The X. V. Ayres Leave for Stockton

Mr. and Mrs. X. V. Ayres of 2122 North Main street, prominent in the city's business and social life, left late last week for Stockton where they will make their home.

Preceding their departure, they were complimented by friends at different pleasant affairs, and on the eve of their departure were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Townsend, 926 South Main street. Mr. and Mrs. Townsend had half a dozen mutual friends in to enjoy dinner and an informal evening of bridge with the departing honor guests.

Piano Recital

The first of a series of piano recitals was given last Saturday afternoon when Miss Talcott Merigold presented a group of her youngest pupils in recital at her residence studio on North Main street.

The little folks played their little solos and duets from memory and with much freedom and joy in musical expression. The trio number was given in excellent rhythm and unison.

Those taking part in the program were Lucille Hohman, Betty Scheel, Betty Perrin, Lois Murray, Arden Murray, Margaret Gruwell and Bobby Adams.

Afternoon of Bridge Enjoyed by Guests In Douglas Home

ASCINATING clusters of flowers designed for corsage adornment, were the delightful prizes for which a group of guests competed at the home of Mrs. S. C. Hill, 116 West Twentieth street. Each member is requested to bring sandwiches and her favorite dish. A large attendance is desired as there is much work to be done.

The northeast section of the Ladies' Aid of the First Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. M. C. Bowman, 503 Eastside avenue, Wednesday, January 27, at 2 o'clock. Members are requested to come prepared to sew.

The first current events section of the Ebells society will meet at the clubhouse, Tuesday, January 26, for a 1 o'clock luncheon. Hostesses will be Mrs. R. W. Townsend, Mrs. C. H. Lurker and Mrs. Jules Hilton. Those unable to attend are requested to call Mrs. Townsend at 1816.

The birthday anniversary of Capistrano Institute, No. 104, Y. L. I. will be happily celebrated tomorrow night in Knights of Columbus hall with a "Behind-the-Scenes" party all members being urged to come in costumes reminiscent of former days. Among business affairs will be the election of a recording secretary, Miss Margaret Halliday having resigned on account of leaving the city. Every member is urged to be present to enjoy the jolly program planned by the committee.

Young Couple Return From Honeymoon

Their many friends are extending congratulations and good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Milton Ball who have returned from a honeymoon at Catalina Island following their wedding of Sunday, January 17 at the new home which Mr. Ball had in readiness for his bride at 1317 South Cypress street.

The wedding was a quiet event at which the groom's father, the Rev. Mr. Ball, officiated and the bride's sister, Mrs. Pearl Coughlin of Modesto, gave her in marriage. Wedding guests were confined to the immediate relatives of the happy pair. The bride, Mrs. Ida Sanders, wore a charming frock of soft blue silk.

Mr. Ball is connected with the Sam Seelig store on West Fourth Saturday night by Miss Agnes Sharn. A corps of courteous young women at "Pat's" lunch counter in the Schroeder drug store on West Fourth street. They will be at home to their friends after February 1, in the new home on South Cypress street.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Anniversary Dinner

Because the occasion was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Standard Baptist church, the First Methodist Episcopal church, the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society and the Doris Wells auxiliary gave a banquet Saturday evening in honor of the event. Tables were charmingly decorated in blue and white, place cards were tiny Standard Bearer pennants and crowning all was a most delicious dinner. Each member present brought a guest which added to the fun of the evening. A toast program was presented over which Miss Eleanor Turner presided.

Friendly Circle

Members of the Friendly Circle class of the First Methodist Episcopal church participated in an evening of fun at the home of Mrs. Justus Birtcher one evening last week. Mrs. Birtcher served a delicious dinner that was thoroughly enjoyed by her many guests. After the evening a program consisting of music and several very clever readings was enjoyed. The program was arranged by Mrs. Birtcher who is widely known for her ability to present such things.

Various Gay Meetings Add to Calendar of Week-end Events

Evening of Bridge

Meeting for their usual merry fortnightly session of bridge, the members of an informal little club were entertained very delightfully Saturday night by Miss Sham- laugh at the home of Mrs. Pearl Merri- ckh on South Sycamore street.

Miss Shambaugh had asked Miss Grace Was and Miss Margaret Marsh to meet with the club mem- bers who are the Misses Prudence Macomber, Kathleen Owens, Janey Wilde, Peggy King, Priscilla Allen, Maurie Hamill, Helen Craemer, Betty Newlands and Mrs. Eleanor Elliott.

After an evening of bridge in which Mrs. Elliott took the hon- ors, the hostess arranged card tables with pretty luncheon cloths in pastel tints and served a Chi- nese supper of chop suey, fragrant tea, rice cakes and lichi nuts, as the final event of a pleasant eve- ning.

Breakfast Guests

Mrs. Amelia Meagher was host- ess yesterday at her apartment to twenty-six of her Los Angeles friends, whom she entertained at a ten o'clock breakfast, which was served on the roof of the court.

Mrs. Meagher had fashioned an arbor with pepper, oak and eucalyptus boughs which made a lovely nook, where the meal was served al fresco, the piece de resistance being fried chicken.

The day was passed with social chat and community singing about the piano, and before the guests departed in the evening, they were served with sandwiches and coffee.

Besides the genial hostess, cov- ers at the prettily decorated tables were set for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mayhew and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bunce, Mr. and Mrs. Elsie Van Larkin, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bonner and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Austin C. MacMath, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Benchley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Senore Heas, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gamm, Miss Nettie Bryant, Miss Billie Wilson, Miss Laura T. Hol- linshead, Messrs. M. Innomadina Club Entertained by Mrs. Ella Web- ster at her home, 813 South Main street, members of the Innom- inadina club spent a delightful af- ternoon at their recent meeting with needlework, chat and lively contests all contributing to the enjoyment.

Mrs. Webster's home was prettily decked with flowers and es- pecially noteworthy were the trailing sprays of climbing Ameri- can Beauty rose which all greatly admired.

After an interval of stitichery, the hostess introduced an amus- ing "age" contest, in which Mrs. Annis took honors and received a daintily embroidered handkerchief as a reward while a pretty handkerchief consoled Mrs. Riggle for her lack of good fortune in guessing. When the tea hour ar- rived, Mrs. J. H. Tompkins as- sisted Mrs. Webster in serving a dainty menu.

Enjoying the varied pleasures of the afternoon were Mesdames Ella Webster, the hostess, M. C. Wil- liams, J. C. Clark, Joseph Ryan, Jesse Elliott, Harvey Riggle, I. D. Gaymont.

County Clubs to Have Permanent Exhibit Of Art Work

38. JACK OLIVARRI, county chairman of arts and crafts of the Federated Women's clubs, is taking a great interest in her department, and in order to give it the required im- petus has evolved a plan where- by a permanent exhibit is to be maintained.

Mrs. Olivari states that there is a wide field to be covered in arts and crafts in Orange county, and asks that every woman who is skill- ed in any of the many departments will make an article and exhibit it with her name and address. Mrs. Olivari plans to visit each club in the county, deliver an address and illustrate it with the county exhibit. Then she will leave the articles on display at the clubhouse until they are required for the next organiza- tion.

Professional teachers and in- structors are invited to exhibit their handiwork also, and Orange county people will get an inspiration to use Orange county products and the services of Orange county people. Merchants may make use of this exhibit. Perhaps, as the chairman holds, the merchant is making a specialty of some material, and may have made up articles to show its desirability or beauty to exhibit in his store until the mode passes and something else takes its place.

The exhibit will remain the prop- erty of the Orange County Federa- tion and Mrs. Olivari bespeaks the co-operation of all club members to augment the goodly-sized nucleus now on hand.

Annis, W. S. Chandler, George Klever, Walter L. Moore, C. T. Wells, E. A. Webster, J. H. Tompkins and her house guest, Mrs. Ada T. Richardson of Seattle.

PROPOSAL TO LIFT OIL RESTRICTIONS RESULTS IN HIGHER LOT PRICES

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 25.—Excitement over the attempt to raise oil drilling restrictions in this city was still rampant today. Local citizens living west of Seventh street and in the restricted area between Ocean avenue and Palm avenue are selling rapidly. The price of some of the lots has risen from $800 to $2500, according to reports being circulated today.

An organized effort to oppose the raising of restrictions will be made, it was intimated today. A number of local persons have banded together and are endeavoring to squelch the movement.

Although it is understood that no active part is being taken by the Standard Oil company or the Huntington Beach company in the effort to raise the restrictions, it is believed that the companies are in favor of the plans. It is known that the two concerns have refused to ally themselves with the forces which are opposing the lifting of the drilling restrictions.

It is believed that a petition asking the calling of an election to raise the restrictions will be circulated in the near future. Another petition probably will be circulated soon asking that restrictions be raised throughout the city. Two different groups are in charge of the petitions and it is possible that both propositions will be voted upon by the citizens in April.

The committee appointed is composed of W. C. Davis, chairman, with I. W. Barnett of the Brea high school, and W. E. Fanning of the grammar schools, as assistants.

Orange Police Seek Auto Thief

ORANGE, Jan. 25.—Having apparently made good his escape, the mystery auto thief, who ran a gauntlet of lead to avoid capture by Orange police during a wild chase down South Glassell street Thursday night, was still at large today, despite a wide search conducted by the authorities in Orange and adjoining counties.

Meantime, the automobile which was abandoned by the bandit when he took to foot through the Garden tract, below La Veta avenue, has been identified as the car stolen from Walter Westfall, 965 Fresno street, Los Angeles.

Night Officers Earl Shaffer and Charles Wallace, who pursued the fleeing car, established this fact yesterday when they traced its owner through a Los Angeles finance company.

Westfall reported the theft to the finance company yesterday morning. The machine, the officer said, was stolen shortly before 9 o'clock Thursday night, while it was parked downtown.

BOARD MEMBER NAMED. SACRAMENTO, Jan. 25.—Gov. Friend W. Richards today appointed J. H. McCracken, of Del Norte, to the state board of pharmacy, to succeed H. B. Meader, Oakland.

NOT MERELY BUYERS and SELLERS

IT USED TO BE that anybody who sold a car was an automobile dealer. Today it is quite generally recognized that the real "automobile dealers" in any community are the men who not only sell cars, but know all about cars, and render to the motorist all the essentials of automotive transportation. The basic policy of the Harry D. Riley institution is a complete responsibility for the local performance of the cars we sell. To meet what we regard as our obligation to the car owner. When a man who buys a car here needs anything to give him complete satisfaction in the ownership of that car, he finds it here—low-cost efficient service and ample stock of parts, a sincere interest in him and his car. Come in and see what we do here to make our customer glad he bought a new Studebaker or a certified used Studebaker.

ENGLAND'S NEW PENSION LAW IS OPERATIVE

LONDON, Jan. 25.—One of the outstanding social reforms brought about by the Baldwin government, the extension of old age pensions to include also pensions for widows and orphans, came into operation today when the first pensions became payable under the new law.

This reform was promised by the Labor government of Ramsay MacDonald, but was delayed by financial exigencies. It is part of the program from national insurance against unemployment, sickness, old age and death, which program applies to all workers of both sexes earning less than 250 pounds ($1250) a year—approximately 15,000,000 workers. It is estimated that it affects 70 per cent of the entire population of the United Kingdom.

Under this scheme workers are assessed a weekly contribution of nine pence (18 cents) for men and four pence half penny for women, divided about equally between employer and employee. This amount is added to a similar amount already payable under a previously existing health insurance law.

Under the new widows' and orphans' pension law each widow of an insured man is entitled to a pension of 10 shillings ($2.50) a week until she attains the age of 70, when she becomes entitled to the ordinary old age pension. For the eldest child of such a widow, a weekly pension of five shillings is paid and for every other child, three shillings a week until the children reach the age of 14. This age limit rises to 16 if the child is spending the entire time in school. Orphans are paid seven shillings six pence ($1.97) each a week.

SENATE ADOPTS CLOTURE RULE

have avoided a vote, but they failed. Senator Harrison, Mississippi, Democrat, asked unanimous consent to re-submit the Robinson agreement, limiting debate after February 10.

Senator Bruce, Maryland, Democrat, objected. A second Reed motion to adjourn was voted down, 72 to 9, and reading of the protocol proceeded. Republican leaders indicated they would keep the senate in session to force adoption of the world court resolution before nightfall.

Blease Starts Filibuster
Senator Cole Blease, South Carolina, Democrat, irreconcilable, began an apparent filibuster this afternoon. He arose to a question of personal privilege, which does not come under the cloture rule limiting a senator to one hour. Consequently Blease could speak indefinitely.

The personal privilege, he explained, was to answer criticism Senator Hefflin, Alabama, Democrat, had made against him for assailing Woodrow Wilson.

Blease talked about the Civil war, the history of South Carolina, the late Henry Cabot Lodge, cloture and other subjects.

Republican leaders scurried about reading rule books, in an effort to find a rule with which to stop Blease.

Blease, however, talked only 45 minutes. Senator Neely, West Virginia, obtained unanimous consent to read into the record a denial of West Virginia coal operators that they were profiteering in sale of anthracite substitutes.

After Neely had concluded, Senator Smith, South Carolina, Democrat, expressed his opposition to cloture, although favoring the world court.

Senator Fernald, Maine, Republican, presented a letter from former Senator Albert J. Beveridge, of Indiana, assailing the court.

The debate then became general and it appeared a vote might not be reached today.

Young Refutes Withdrawal In Governor Race

BERKELEY, Jan. 25.—Lt. Gov. C. C. Young, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, promptly refuted a published report of his withdrawal from the contest for governor. He said:

"Today's statement in a San Francisco morning paper that I am reported to have withdrawn my previously announced candidacy for governor is so far afield that prompt and definite correction seems to be in order. I have neither withdrawn my candidacy nor have I any intention or reason for doing so."

"On the other hand, during the last few weeks I have been busily engaged in so arranging my personal affairs as to afford myself uninterrupted opportunity for a continuous and aggressive campaign as soon as it appears time for a campaign to get under way."

"I am keeping closely in touch with all portions of the state, both north and south, and am more than pleased with the existing situation. Public sentiment as to the approaching election seems to be crystallizing much more rapidly than I had believed possible so early in the year."

"In the article alleged my 'withdrawal' is the suggestion of another candidate to take my place. The rumors of withdrawals of existing candidates, or additions to new candidates, can probably in most cases be traced back to those whose wish is father to the thought. No greater service could be done for the present administration than to divide the field among as many opposing candidates as possible. Such an attempt is perhaps always worth trying, though fortunately not always successful."

FOUR ARMED DESPERADOS STILL HIDING

(By United Press)

OAKLAND, Jan. 25.—Four armed desperados, led by a convicted murderer, still were at liberty today after a break from the county jail here Saturday night, in which one jailer was assaulted.

The jailer, Dan Ferguson, was in a serious condition today, feared suffering from a fractured skull, received when struck down with a blackjack made from a cake of hard soap.

The jail delivery was discovered within 10 minutes and officers were dispatched to all points of exit from the city with such speed that it was believed the men must be in hiding somewhere in the East Bay section.

The escaped men are: Jacob Fuhr, 34, held in jail pending appeal from conviction of killing Mrs. Elsie Currie.

Edward Bridges, 20, serving time for a San Leandro burglary, said to be wanted with his brother, Harry, in Arkansas.

Louis Sisco, 24, convicted burglar.

Jack Sanders, 17, convicted burglar, who attempted to break jail recently at the detention home.

Thomas Brown, serving 30 days for petty larceny, escaped with the others, but surrendered at the city prison within 10 minutes, declaring he fled only to save himself from wrath of the quartet.

Jailer Ferguson was struck down as he escorted Ray Isaacs, trustee, to a cell after the prisoner's mother had visited him. Waving weapons, the prisoners then held up Jailer Dan Doody and took from him keys to an outer door. Ferguson and Doody were thrown into a corridor and locked in.

According to District Attorney Earl Warren, he learned of a jail break conspiracy hatched by Fuhr and warned Sheriff Frank Barnett 10 days ago. Precautions failed to avert the escape, which was planned by jailers on possibilities opened up by crowded conditions.

"KERNELS" BY THE COLONEL

Today's booby prize should go to the Santa Ana attorney, who, in Justice Morrison's court the other day, turned to a newspaper reporter and said: "Say, in this case just coming up I represent the defense and I haven't any witnesses. Will you be one for me?"

The case concerned corsets, so the blushing reporter naturally declined.

Men's styles for 1926 (and this is not Beaumarchais, either) will make men look more athletic, so says the International Association of Clothing Designers. Maybe they're going to take the chesty part of the trousers out and put it where it belongs.

It will not be stylish for men to wear bird feathers on their hats this year, either, or ribbons in their shirts.

"ILLINOIS WOMAN HAS ROLLING PIN 166 YEARS OLD"—headline. Just another battle scarred relic of many wars. Wonder if the above style announcement will mean anything to the members of that woman's family?

Taken from The Register files of 14 years ago: "The Turkey Trot, Texas Tommy and the Grizzly Bear have been tabooed by society leaders here, as being coarse, degrading and unrefined." Who said "Charles-ton?"

Did you ever notice that some of the biggest longhairs are bald headed?

Here's one sent in for publication: "The entertainment program included a concert, vocal solo and musical selections."

The other day the sheriff's office was requested to search for the missing relative of a Los Angeles man. The description of the lost man was as follows: "He is bald and what hair he has is dark streaked with gray. Heavy moustache same as described hair. Last seen in blew overalls."

In spite of the winds, a big fire, sickness, new cars for the city dads, and a change in seasons, things in Santa Ana are like they should be—Judge West has his new number plates and they're just the same as last year, merely a change in color. When the judge gets a number other than 624, then it's time to worry. It used to be his telephone number, too.

Today's booby prize is already gone, but the man arrested five miles from town, brought to court and fined $25, who then asked the sheriff to furnish him transportation back home, should get some consideration.

We want to say we think the new direction signs at the intersection of Fourth and Main are quite an improvement over the hand-painted police signs that formerly decorated the posts.

Another little typographical error which appeared once, and which we do not claim credit for springing the first time, is: "For Rent:—A large furnished room with widows on both sides."

SMELTZER

SMELTZER, Jan. 25.—Mrs. J. A. Murdy, assisted by Miss Merle Parr, planned and carried out a complete surprise on the event of Miss Ella Murdy's birthday anniversary Friday evening. Twenty persons were present.

A number of lively games were played. Refreshments of cake and fruit punch were served. The honoree was showered with a lovely array of birthday gifts by her friends, and Mr. Larter treated the company to delicious candy. The guest list included, among others, Miss Murdy's Sunday school teacher and members of her class of the Westminster Presbyterian Sunday school, H. Larter, of Huntington Beach; Miss Margaret Basse, Harry Basse, Mrs. W. B. McCoy, Miss Helen McCoy, Brice McCoy, Howard Bowles, Doyle Stockton, Miss Lottie Knox, Miss Iola Murdy, Donelyn Murdy, Miss Lillian Arnette, of Westminster; Melvin Burns, of Long Beach; Miss Merle Parr, Miss Marie McMillan, Fred McMillan, George Barry, Arthur Murdy and Mrs. J. A. Murdy, of Smelter.

Mrs. L. E. Barry was hostess on Thursday, when she entertained at a 1 o'clock luncheon honoring her house guest, Mrs. I. Arnold, of Litchfield, Ill., a cousin of Mr. Barry, who is making her first visit to this state.

Covers were laid for 10 including the honor guest, Mrs. I. Arnold; Mrs. G. M. Robertson, of Wintersburg; Mrs. B. A. Farrar, of Santa Ana; Mrs. W. A. Knighten, Miss Margaret Knighten, of Huntington Beach; Mrs. George Gerhart, of Wintersburg; Mrs. R. E. Larter, Mrs. Virginia Patterson, of Westminster; Mrs. W. I. Clapp, of Long Beach, and the hostess, Mrs. L. E. Barry.

Mrs. A. J. Murdy and daughter, Miss Ella Murdy, left Saturday for Los Angeles, where they joined Mr. Murdy. From there they went to Van Nuys, where they were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Murdy's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George McGirk.

PENSION COST DECLINES AS VETERANS DIE

BY C. B. DODDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The expenditures of the pension bureau, which takes care of the veterans of all wars prior to the World war, are showing a steady decline every year as the muster rolls of the old soldiers diminish in number.

Last year the saving amounted to more than $12,000,000, despite the fact that a great many increases in pensions were allowed.

The pension bureau is still paying 21 pension claims growing out of the War of 1812. This number is 12 less than the bureau was paying a year ago. All of the pensioners in this class are widows, as the last pensioner from this war died many years ago.

Peak Reached in 1902

The peak in the number of pensioners on the rolls of the bureau was reached in 1902. At that time, nearly one million men, women and children were receiving monthly benefits from Uncle Sam. Now the number is 512,000, each year having shown a gradual decline since the peak year.

Prior to the Spanish war, the greatest sum expended for pensions was $156,000,000, paid to 966,000 pensioners. Now, with almost half the number of pensioners, the payments amount to $127,000,000. The greatest amount ever paid in pensions in one year was in 1923, when the bureau disbursed $263,000,000.

Of course, the Civil war leads the list in the total amount of money paid to pensioners from the year 1790 to the present time. This government has paid out $6,813,000,000 to Civil war pensioners. The Revolution cost only $70,000,000 in pensions, or one-third of what the pension bureau is now expending annually, to say nothing of what the veterans' bureau is paying for World war pensions.

7 Billions in Pensions

The War of 1812 cost $46,000,000 in pensions; the Indian wars, $27,000,000; the war with Mexico, $57,000,000. So far the Spanish war has cost the American people $151,000,000 in pensions. The grand total amount disbursed by the pension bureau, which, of course, does not include the amount paid by the veterans' bureau to World war veterans, amounted to $7,053,000,000 at close of the fiscal year 1925.

During 1925, 20,000 Civil war veterans and 21,000 widows of Civil war veterans were stricken from the pension rolls by death. During that same time, 2000 Spanish war veterans and 311 widows of Spanish war veterans were taken from the rolls in the same manner. The average monthly decrease has been 1415 Civil war veterans' deaths, 1488 widows of Civil war veterans; 165 veterans of the Spanish war and 33 widows of Spanish war veterans.

California is exceeded by only four states in the amount of annual pensions by the bureau, the total being $12,692,000. In 1925, to 34,793 pensioners. Illinois, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania had more pensioners than California.

Records of the native born Chinese and Japanese in the United States have been unearthed by the census bureau and submitted to the house committee on immigration, which is considering the proposal to amend the immigration act in order to permit native born Orientals to bring to the United States wives from their native countries.

These figures show that in 1920 there were only 683 native born Japanese of voting age and 29,014 under voting age. Of the Chinese at that time, there were 10,131 over voting age and 8401 under 21 years of age.

What proportion of the Chinese and Japanese under voting age have become 21 years old since 1920 was not reported to the committee.

The committee is giving careful consideration to the proposal, which is backed by the Native Sons of the Golden State, an organization of native Californians of Chinese extraction.

California has the fourth largest number of interior department employees of all the states in the Union and including the District of Columbia, according to a tabulation of Secretary Work.

There are 799 men and women reporting to the secretary of the interior in California, which number is exceeded only by the number of employees in the District of Columbia, where there are 3653; Arizona, 1156; and Alaska, 1031.

Only one state has no employees of the interior department and there is Delaware. But seven states have only one employee from this department.

One of the remarkable facts in connection with the secretary's report is that there are now fewer employees in the interior department than there were in 1917, just prior to the war. The total number now is 13,125, compared to 19,312 in 1917.

The navy department proposes to centralize its training of young midshipmen in the art of flying at San Diego and Hampton Roads naval training stations, according to a statement made by Secretary Wilbur recently to a congressional committee.

Secretary Wilbur said the department has plans for the immediate expansion of its training program because there is a shortage of naval aviators. Additional funds will be required for this intensive campaign by the department and it will be necessary to include them in one of the forthcoming deficiency bills because the plans were not completed in time to have them included in the budget.

The secretary's plan is to send the graduating class of 1926 in groups to both San Diego and Hampton Roads, where they will be given individually about 25 hours of flight instruction, in-

BUDDHIST HAS POOR OPINION OF AMERICANS

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Americans are mad—"mad with money; mad with pleasure; mad with sex"—according to Director Anaharika Dharmapala, of the Buddhist mission of India, back here after investigating spiritual conditions in New York, Boston, Chicago, Salt Lake City, Omaha, Reno and Denver.

"America," he said in an interview with the United Press, "is a crisis spiritually. Never have I seen a people so thoroughly enjoying themselves as the Americans."

"But enjoyment is not happiness. Enjoyment is physical; happiness is mental. If only Americans find how to add happiness to their capacity for enjoyment, America will lead the world spiritually as it now leads materially."

Buddhism, he continued, would be a great aid to the United States in finding happiness, for, he said, "America cannot find this leadership through Christianity."

Plans are also on foot for developing enlisted pilots in the navy, and congress is considering a plan to create the rank of "ensign pilot," with the pay of an ensign.

It was pointed out that about 20 per cent of the qualified pilots in the navy are enlisted men and both Secretary Wilbur and Admiral Eberle spoke highly of their qualifications in testifying before the committee.

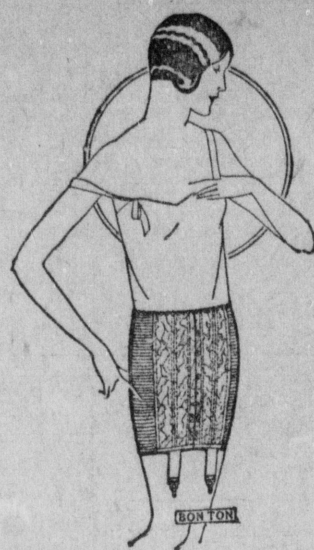

Senator Stanfield, of Oregon, has a big laugh on a certain middle western senator whose name could not be mentioned, but who would suffer thereby and who is, therefore, saved this embarrassment.

This middle westerner received an inquiry from one of his constituents in regard to a condition in Los Angeles. He wrote the constituent he was unable to answer his inquiry, but that he was sending the constituent's letter to Senator Stanfield, who doubtless would be able to answer the question. A copy of this letter was forwarded with the original letter from the constituent to Senator Stanfield.

In answering, Senator Stanfield has sent a map of the United States to this midwestern senator, showing the location of Los Angeles and advising him that Los Angeles is in California and not in Oregon.

It is needless to say that the midwestern senator referred to is not from Iowa.

P.-T. A. GROUPS OF SANTA ANA WILL PRESENT MUSIC COMEDY

'The Love Garden' Will Be Staged Here by Cast of About 300 Local Persons

COMPOSER IN CITY TO DIRECT SCENES

Proceeds of Play Will Be Used to Promote Supervised Playground Work

Santa Ana is to have a musical comedy, produced by a local cast of about 300 persons, who are to begin rehearsing at once.

The federation of Parent-Teacher association has arranged for the production as a benefit for the proposed supervised playground work for vacation time, and will present it on the evenings of February 15 and 16, in the high school auditorium.

The title of the production is "The Love Garden," a musical show of the modern type, which has made a name for itself in the east and was given its western premiere recently in the Raymond theater, Pasadena. The production has a romantic plot, catchy music and clean comedy.

The women of the federation not only have secured the opera, and all its equipment, including special scenery, but also have arranged to have the composer, Robert P. Skilling, here to conduct rehearsals and performances.

The composer is a well-known producer of professional shows. The cast will be composed of adult principals and choruses. One scene, however, will be in the hands of a company of small girls.

The first general rehearsal for all adult groups will be held at 7:30 tomorrow night in the high school auditorium.

Several of the special adult groups are to present dancing and singing numbers.

The first rehearsal for the juvenile scenes will be held at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the high school auditorium.

Chaperones will attend all children's rehearsals.

Skilling is a conservatory graduate and a graduate of The Northampton School of Music Pedagogy. He has broadcast several of his productions from western and eastern radio stations.

Our 1/2-price sale continues until goods are sold. We are closing out China Department. Anderson's, 205 E. 4th.

MEMBER DRIVE IS CONTINUED FOR ONE WEEK

The Y. M. C. A. membership roundup, which was scheduled to end Saturday night, has been extended for another week.

"The cowboys" reported that they were chasing a considerable number of strays and mavericks and that some of the cattle were pretty wild, but they thought that they could wear them out and rope them if they had a little more time. On this consideration, the "bosses" of the roundup decided to extend the time for closing until Monday, February 1.

Up until Saturday night, there was a total of 105 new members shown on the score board. O. H. Barr still is high, with 10 to his credit. A. D. Gorton, with nine, is second, and Harry Lewis, with seven, is third.

The "ranch" honors thus far are held by the "Horned A" gang, of which Ed McFadden is manager. These husky riders have credit for 49 members. The "Flaming C," headed by Charles Marcher, has 29.

SANTA ANA GIRL IS HURT IN CAR CRASH

Miss Margaret Lyon, Santa Ana, was out about the face and body Saturday afternoon, when the automobile, in which she was riding, collided with another machine, at Santa Clara and North Main streets, according to a report made at the police station.

The girl was taken to a local physician's office, where she was given medical attention, and later removed to her home. No one in the other machine, the driver of which was not identified, was reported injured.

ORANGE CROPS SHOW GAINS IN 10-YEAR PERIOD

Tustin Hills Citrus Association Hears Annual Report by Crawford

Orange crops in this district have been on a steady upward trend during the past four years, it was shown today in a report made in Tustin Hills Citrus association by B. A. Crawford, manager of the association.

The distributing fund is $24,100 more than last year's fund, according to Crawford's report. The fund this year is $52,433 larger than the distributing fund of 1923, and $71,499 more than the fund in 1922. There is approximately $549,855 to be distributed among the 200 growers of the association this season.

During the last 10 years, the packing house has shipped 1,433,844 packed boxes of fruit and has realized $5,155,360.26 from the shipments. The average price per box during the 10-year period has been $3.28.

Higher Price By Box

The success of the season just closing is again demonstrated in a comparison of the price per box realized. This year, an average price of $4.52 per box was realized, with a price of $4.72 for valencias, or an average of $1.24 more per box than the average for the last 10 years. The average output of the packing house each season for the last 10 years has been 143,834 packed boxes and the average realization, $515,536.

The vigilance of federal, state and county authorities, together with the inspection systems of the exchange, has been responsible for a higher class of fruit and a better price for the season just closed, according to Crawford.

In closing his report this morning at the regular business session of the growers, Crawford declared that a recent check of the orchards belonging to the association showed that a good crop could be expected. Some orchards are slightly spotted and other orchards do not have a normal crop, but the majority of the ranches have a good crop, which is well distributed over the trees. Crawford predicted that this year would be much larger and finer than usual.

Luncheon at K. of P. Hall. The annual business meeting of the organization convened at the packing house at 9 o'clock. Following the business meeting, the members of the association adjourned to the Knights of Pythias lodge hall, where luncheon was served by the Pythian Sisters.

Following the luncheon, a program was given in the lodge hall. Paul Armstrong, assistant general manager of the California Fruit Growers' exchange, was one of the speakers. Dana King, of the Orange Exchange By-Products company, was scheduled to speak.

RADIO FANS OF SANTA ANA CONVINCED THAT KIPLING KNEW OF WHAT HE SPOKE

Santa Ana radio enthusiasts, who "participated" in the international "tests" last night, today were largely of the opinion that the man who wrote, "East is east and west is west and never the twain shall meet," knew his carrier waves, even if his little verse was penned some 10 or 20 years before peanut tubes were invented.

A check of radio dealers today failed to reveal any clear reception of European or South American stations, although several amateurs reported that they "believed they had something." But whether it was two-way communication with the Isle of Yap and Walla Walla, Wn., has not been determined.

Static conditions last night were not the best. The young man who was asked to write this tried to "tune in" on 2LO, London, but what he got sounded like someone turning a garden hose on a tom cat. A great many of the stations did not co-operating in the international tests regularly observe Monday night as silent night and the air should be more free of interference.

A large number of stations were on the air, despite the efforts to keep the air lanes clear for the international reception. There was a great deal of church music heard from Texas and southern stations. Fans hope for better results tonight. County Students Among Graduates

Bertha Solway, of Santa Ana, and Joseph S. Hayhurst, of Garden Grove, are among 15 seniors, who will graduate from Pomona college Saturday, January 30.

The Bridges Hall of Music is to be the scene of the commencement exercises, according to announcement sent Orange county friends.

Dr. Frank P. Brackett will preside at the exercises and Dean E. C. Norton will give a short address, followed by prayer. The benediction will be given by Dr. Robert C. Denison. An informal reception will be held after the graduation exercises.

Arthur Lynch, editor of Radio Broadcast Magazine, reported that at 11:09 p. m. he heard, in Riverhead, L. I., 2LO, a London station, and later picked up Lima, Peru, and Buenos Aires, Argentina, he said messages indicated.

Powell Crosley Jr., chairman of the Radio week executive committee, reported from Cincinnati that he had received messages from practically every state in the union that fans had succeeded in picking up the foreign stations.

With the night perfect for test, music came clearly from Daventry, England; Barcelona, Spain; Lima, Peru, and Buenos Aires, Argentina, he said messages indicated.

Lewis, Eble, of Philadelphia, reported to the Public Ledger there that he heard the announcer sign off at the Eiffel tower station in Paris, which had broadcast on a 200 wave length. An amateur in Garden City, L. I., reported speaking to an amateur in Paris by wireless.

The British Broadcasting company, the biggest radio operating concern in England, did not hear the American stations' last night. According to the United Press cablegram from London, no special effort was made by this company.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25.—Southern California failed to pick up any of the programs broadcast Sunday by European stations, reports of amateur and professional radio operators indicated today.

All Southland stations are observing the silent hours this week in deference to the international broadcasting tests.

KFI, operated by Earle C. Anthony, Inc., which refused to co-operate at first with the International Test week committee, agreed at the eleventh hour to silence its station. KFI officials claim the international tests are fostered by commercial interests for predatory purposes.

SEATTLE, Wn., Jan. 25.—The Pacific northwest was "out" last night, as far as trying for European stations was concerned. Three church services blanketed the vicinity, preventing any successful distance attempts. Northwestern stations will observe the silent hour the rest of the week, however.

Ann Pennington and Julian Eltinge in a scene from "Madam Behave," current attraction at the West End theater.

WEST END THEATER.

It is axiomatic that one must laugh and grow fat. Anything that contributes to the gaiety of nations and men is a boon. In this sense, therefore, a good comedy is a public blessing.

Just such a screen comedy is "Madam Behave," a production which has just been termed "A Cousin to Charley's Aunt," and which was shown with emphatic success at the West End theater yesterday. It is a delightful contribution to the mirth of humanity.

It is a farce in skirts—a laugh-maker of exceptional worth. It completes a triumvirate of Al Christie international farces. While "Charley's Aunt" was English by history and tradition, and "Seven Days" purely American, "Madam Behave" is a French farce by Jean Arlette, and it is unquestionably one of the most laughable creations ever seen on the local screen.

The principal comedians in this entertaining production are Julian Eltinge, woman impersonator, and Ann Pennington, jazz dancer—two of the best known figures of the American stage and screen. They are supported by a galaxy of screen artists, including Lionel Belmore, Jack Duffy, David James, Tom Wilson, Evelyn Francisco and Stanhope Wheatcroft. It was directed by Scott Sidney, the man whose brilliant sense of comedy helped make "Charley's Aunt" the world-beater it is.

The double-wedding sequence at the finish is done in technicolor and makes a charming and happy climax for this feast of fun. Don't miss it!

WEST COAST-WALKER.

Imagine! "The Merry Widow" directed by Erich von Stroheim with Mae Murray in the title role and John Gilbert opposite her as "Prince Danilo."

Never before has such a perfect combination of story, director, and cast been assembled for the screen. And behind them have been the resources of the largest studio and producing organization in the world.

There has been only one aim in the making of "The Merry Widow," which opened a five-day engagement yesterday at the West Coast-Walker theater, and that was to give the public the most fascinating screen entertainment in motion picture, and to say that the aim has been achieved does not begin to describe it, according to all reports.

Von Stroheim, with his subtle touches, his cleverness, his supreme finesse, his intimate knowledge of the European setting; Mae Murray, beautiful, captivating, the very spirit of romance and gaiety; John Gilbert, handsome, dashing, personable, every inch a prince; Roy D'Arcy, a new von Stroheim "find," a fascinating, villainous figure as the "Crown Prince," who proves a perfect foil for "Danilo"; Tully Marshall, George Fawcett, Josephine Crowell, and Dale Fuller, all sterling actors, contribute to the picture that threatens to smash all records for entertainment value.

On the stage is "Syncopation" the latest West Coast Presentation, produced by Fanchon and Marco.

Settings, costumes, drapes, singing and dancing numbers have all been created and selected with the view of presenting every phase of syncopation of the present day. Among the headlines which appear in this sensational presentation are the famous sixteen California flashes, Crosby and Rinker, "Pep" Payne, and the Chinese Trio.

Hurry Mother! A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" now will thoroughly clean the little bowels and in a few hours you have a well, playful child again. Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love its pleasant taste.

breezy manner by a young director named Howard Higgin, who puts pep and speed into sparkling society melodrama. "The New Commandment" is destined to become the talk of the town. We predict an avalanche of cheer for those who need our advice to view this time photoplay while it is at the Yost theater.

You will admire Ben Lyon. In his love scenes with Blanche Sweet he is fascinating. Another chap who deserves all praise is George Cooper, a rare comedian. He kept us in gales of mirth throughout the picture.

If Robert T. Kane continues to make pictures like "The New Commandment," he will be doing the screen a great service. In this film there is a novelty that relieves the tension of the stereotype motion picture. The photography, handled by Ernest Hallor, is perfect. It has tone, composition and is restful on the eyes.

Survey Reveals Bumper Crop Year

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25.—Further evidence of Southern California's prosperity was revealed here in the annual survey of E. E. Kaufman, state agricultural statistician, which shows that 1925 was a bumper year for field and fruit crops throughout the state.

California's total yield was 1,560,000, a gain of 18 per cent over 1924, the report showed. Value of the crops also exceeded that of 1924.

Total value of the fruit and field crops in the state, in 1925, was given as $405,193,000, compared with $338,000,000, in 1924, and $370,398,000 in 1923.

THINK of it—you can put your dinner in the Chambers oven after lunch, go away for the entire afternoon, and at dinner time take out a hot, appetizing meal, ready to serve.

The Chambers Fireless Gas Range frees you from long hours in the kitchen, from the drudgery of basting and "pot watching."

It gives you time to enjoy your friends, time for companionship with your children. You simply turn off the gas and go away. There is no danger of food burning or drying up. And all the flavor and rich juices are kept in.

When you consider the services of this wonderful range and add the fact that it cuts the gas bill in half, you simply cannot afford not to own one.

IN LINE with the Chandler store policy of offering the most modern and highest type of home equipment you are invited to come in and inspect the marvelous Chamber Fireless Gas Range.

An understanding of its principles and ease of operation will give any housewife a new idea of simplified cooking.

(An intimate story of innocent emotions revealed in private letters) NIGHT LETTER FROM SYDNEY CARTON TO LESLIE PRESCOTT.

Thank you, dear friend, for the most wonderful letter I have ever received. God has been good to me for he has let me know you.

SYDNEY CARTON.

Letter from Sydney Carton to John Alden Prescott

Received your letter and although I am much disappointed I guess it is just as well you are not coming down for I am afraid I might grow mawkish in bidding you goodbye. All American men are ashamed of tears. Just why, I do not know. I feel my eyes grow misty when I think of leaving you and Leslie.

But, Jack, I know it's the only thing for me to do. If I would leave this world anything by which it would remember me after I am gone, I can put what little science I have at the disposal of these men and do my bit.

You know, old pal, what I would say, I will write you often, for I know that I will get very lonely out there in the wilderness, for we expect to go where never man has trod before.

When I am sitting all alone some night looking at the moon—the same moon which will shine on you—I know that I will want to talk to you and talk to Leslie. I shall want to tell you what you have been to me, and I'll do it, old man, I'll do it.

I went to call on Paula Perler last night. She seemed very strange. I could not tell whether she had grown cold and hard or whether something had come to her which had made her afraid—afraid of talking—afraid of even thinking. Queer, isn't it, that I always take Leslie, the sweetest, purest and most angelic woman I have ever known, with Paula Perler, as the best women it has been my privilege to meet in this world. Both these women have loved you, Jack. You are indeed fortunate.

It is only an old bachelor like me, however, who can appreciate how fortunate you are. I know that either one of these women would make any man happy. But you have never seemed to take the devotion of either seriously.

There! You see, old friend, that I could not even write you a farewell letter without preaching a little.

I can't give you any address at the present moment. In fact, it will probably be very hard for you to write me often, but rest assured that I will write you at least once a month.

Until we meet again.

SYD.

High Collar

There's no doubt about it, the high collar is the smart way to treat your neck this season. Here is a new style that was noticed on a Paris import that recently made its way over here.

WINTER COLDS ARE DANGEROUS

The serious diseases that develop from simple coughs or colds make them dangerous and they should not be neglected. There is no better remedy for quick relief from coughs and colds than Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. CYNTHIA GRAY

SAYS: There's Mystery in Why Married Folk Live Longer Than All Others.

Married men and women live much longer than spinsters and bachelors.

No, there isn't a catch in it! I'm not about to tell you the explanation is only that it seems longer to the married man and woman.

The figures come from insurance companies.

For men between the ages of 20 and 25 there are 6.26 deaths among husbands and 12.31 deaths per 100,000 among bachelors.

Between the ages of 30 and 35 you find that the married man dies at the rate of 8.65 and the bachelor at the rate of 15.54 per 100,000. Between the ages of 55 and 60, fully three times as many bachelors die as married men.

A married woman of 31 may expect to live 3 years longer.

An unmarried woman of 31 may expect to live but 30 more years.

Of all women who reach the age of 45, there are 73 married women to every 55 spinsters.

Now just what is the reason? The insurance companies try this one:

Marriage means that the market of eligible men and women has been culled, and the best taken. The rest naturally are "leavings and leftovers."

Oh, they are, are they. Not an hour ago we finished reading a howl from a university president and a eugenicist, complaining that only "the unfit" were marrying nowadays.

Consider the bulk of people, however. We know perfectly well that college people—cultured, intelligent people—are not the bulk of our population. Consider the bulk. We are inclined to believe the insurance companies are right—marriage does cull and take the best. "Undesirables" remain.

The insurance companies try this explanation also:

Married men and women live more regular, routine lives. Papa goes from the office home, and from home to his office. But the bachelor can go any place at any time. He is out more at night and therefore more likely to meet with accident.

The probably will be interesting and illuminating news to the hordes of married women who ask "where is my wandering spouse tonight?"

And, say the insurance agents, the married man is better fed, better cared for, in general, than his unwed brother.

Strangely enough the insurance savants propound absolutely no explanation why a wife lives longer than a maiden? One wonder why they do not attempt it!

Surely in this age of assuming that every virgin treads the primeval path they could prove that the maiden's dissipations bring her to an untimely end and an early grave!

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Keep in your recipe book or filing cabinet only those recipes you have used and know your family has liked. Recipes given you by friends or cut from papers or magazines should be kept separately in an envelope until tried.

Use raw cabbage as frequently as possible, because in its raw state it is richer in vitamins than any other vegetable. A quarter of a cupful of chopped pineapple made up with the cabbage as a salad will give variety to its taste.

Scarf Collar

Here is a very attractive collar arrangement that serves as a scarf as well and gives the high neckline that all smart day frocks have. It is of black satin lined with beige georgette.

Hungarian Bag

This is a new addition to the bright colored bags now so popular. It is embroidered in wool by Hungarian peasants in a modern Austrian design of bright colors on a white wool background.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON NO. 13—THE RAG DOLL BRINGS NEWS

Suddenly Sniff Whiskers, the rat, said sharply, "It's high tide!"

"After all my trouble," said the gobbler, "After all my trouble to have it turn out like this! I'll never have anything to do with dolls or dratns again. Good-bye, forever."

And away he strutted, his tail spread out like a huge fan, and his long neck jerking angrily at each step.

I don't think, or rather I do think, that the Hidy Go Land people never heard of him again. He wandered back home that night, the first for a week or more, and when Farmer Greenway went out with the milk pails, there was Mister Gobbler perched on top of the wood-pile with a disgusted look on his face.

But we must go back to the place he left and find out what happened to the others.

"I can't help it if he is disgusted," said the Rag Doll. "I don't know why you all followed me anyway."

"We thought you had stolen Miss Crinoline's skirt off the washline," said poor Mister Havalook, looking more miserable than ever.

"Pooh! I wouldn't wear her old stick-out skirt," said the Rag Doll. "I know where I can get all the fine clothes I want."

At this hot reply not only the Crinoline Doll but Belinda and Mrs. Jiggs and Calamity Jane all fainted, and it kept Nancy busy with eau de cologne and smelling salts bringing them to.

Suddenly Sniff Whisker, the rat, said sharply, "It's high tide! Watch out, everybody, or you'll be drowned. See the waves with the white froth on top! Look out!"

"Pooh!" said the Rag Doll again. Indeed, it seemed as though she had gotten the habit. "Pooh! That's not high tide! That's water out of the drain. And the white stuff is suds. It's washday back in Everyday Land where we came from. I know, for I've been peeping."

"What I want to know is," said Calamity Jane, who was now feeling better, as her fainting spells never lasted any longer; "than the sympathy of those around her, 'where all those fine clothes are, that you just spoke about. If there are so many, perhaps I can get a few. I'm tired of going around without a stitch to my back.'"

"You can count on it, she is only talking," said the Crinoline Doll. "Anyone who would lead us on such a wild goose chase as this, would say anything."

Again, "I know what I am talking about. Anybody who is brave enough to go into the drain with me can have all the clothes he wants for the fishing."

"Fishing!" shrieked everybody at this. "Has she gone crazy?"

"Yes, fishing," said the Rag Doll. "Didn't I tell you I'd been peeping. I've been peeping in at the laundry window and I'll tell you a secret. When they empty a tub of washing water into the drain, they are not careful. And you'd be surprised at the things that go out with the wash water and come to Hidy Go Land. While I was there I saw the laundress throw out three fine handkerchiefs and ten buttons and a bureau scarf and an antimacassar. I know one place where the drain makes a sort of lake and if you all get hooks and lines there ought to be fine fishing. Only do watch out for water-bugs, they have such big eyes and they're so nebbly, too."

"Hurrah!" cried all the Hidy Go people. "Let's go fishing in the drain. We might find all sorts of things."

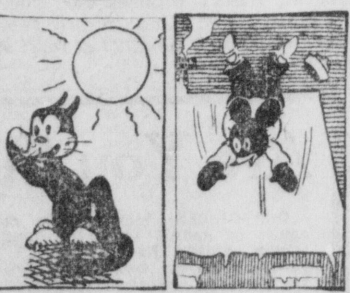

"Not I," said Miss Crinoline haughtily. "I'd like first."

"Then go ahead and die," said Teddy Bear unfeelingly. At this Miss Crinoline fainted again.

Is this your BIRTHDAY

If so, you will be forceful and direct.

Your friendships and enmities will be clear-cut, and there will be little borderline. Your veracity and straightforwardness will make many persons like you, and others hate you.

Your financial success will be limited to some extent by an exaggerated sense of fair-play. Many things recognized as fair business will not appeal to you.

Your love will appear early in life, and will be steadfast.

The WELL-DRESSED MAN By BEAUNASH

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

THE VOGUE OF KNITTED SCARFS

It is the history of fashion that the introduction of an article of dress intended to take the place of something else does not lessen the vogue of the other. They flourish side by side. Consider, for example, knickers which have not replaced trousers, and leather windbreakers which have not supplanted sweaters. Likewise the knitted scarf has not detracted from the popularity of the woven scarf. We wear both, that's all. The reason is that the wardrobe of The Well-Dressed Man is not stinted by economy.

Metropolitan centers it is no uncommon thing for a man to own fifty cravats. The Prince of Wales is said to have more than five hundred and former King Manuel of Portugal, one of the great dandies of Europe, is credited with a thousand. This, to be sure, is carrying the thing to comical extremes, for the mere matter of selection would exhaust the wearer's patience as well as the better part of the morning. It is clear, though, that scarfs are the one accessory of wear on which The Well-Dressed Man does not stint himself.

You should have a goodly assortment of both woven and knitted cravats. The woven excel in range of patterns and colors. That is possible in what are known as flat or broad silk. The knitted scarf excels in durability and, to some degree, in richness and unusualness of appearance. This is well shown in the accompanying sketches of two knitted cravats revealing different designs formed by broad cross bars in sharply contrasting colors.

Added advantages of knitted neckwear are that, unlike woven silk, it is meshy or openwork in construction and texture and, therefore, looks lighter and cooler. Moreover, being elastic-knit, it expands and contracts in the process of knotting and shows neither wrinkles nor pinholes. Knitted cravats are made both with open or flowing ends and with closed or tacked ends, as preferred. The colors and designs now duplicate all the desirable effects of woven scarfs.

Kachoo! where's the MUSTEROLE

ROWELL BACK WITH US

After an absence of three weeks, Chester H. Rowell's column of comment appears in The Register again today, and will continue to appear throughout 1926. This feature, we know, has been read with great interest and profit by thousands of Register readers, and the return of the Rowell column will be welcomed.

One need not agree with Rowell in order to enjoy and profit by his discourse. In fact, few would agree with everything he has to say. But Rowell is a thorough investigator and a brilliant thinker and writer. He is a scholar in the finest sense of the word, and his scholastic attainments are applied to the practical problems of the world in a clear-sighted, logical manner. One who reads Rowell is quickly impressed with the idea that he does not reach conclusions without facts and reasoning.

During 1925, Rowell was under contract to write daily comment for the N. E. A., a feature service with headquarters in Cleveland, O. Through this syndicate, The Register was enabled to give its readers the Rowell column during 1925. Rowell has signed a new contract for 1926, this time with the National News Features of San Francisco, and it is through that firm that, at considerable expense, we will secure the editorial comment of the brilliant Californian during 1926.

FOOTBALL COACHES

A new football coach is hired by the Kansas state university, and his entry is heralded on the front pages all over the Missouri Valley. The employment of the greatest scholar in the world, to teach those students in the classroom, would not attract one-tenth of the attention. Whereupon William Allen White rises to remark:

"If college regents, trustees and faculties desire to keep professionalism out of athletics, why are they forever hiring high-priced professional coaches for their sporting department?"

He goes further, making this radical suggestion: "Why can't Kansas, where the farmer's money supports these schools—the money earned so hard in a depressed industry—why can't Kansas pass a law prohibiting intercollegiate athletics in Kansas at schools receiving state money? It would save hundreds of thousands of dollars of state money, by driving out of our state schools the sporting crowd from Kansas City and the big towns and put 100 per cent more efficiency and enthusiasm into the faculties of the state schools."

"Exercise is needed. Make it compulsory. Let interclass spirit in the schools furnish the necessary sporting spirit. Fire the professional coach and make education real in Kansas, not the annex of the sporting pages of the newspapers."

And that, as some newspaper editors and readers will agree, is such a sensible suggestion that there is no hope whatever of the University of Kansas or any other university, following it at present. College athletics must get worse yet before they get better.

The University of Illinois biologists say they have developed a one-eyed fish. Good idea. When fishing for it, you can get around on its blind side.

INTERNATIONAL GARDENS

A schoolmaster in Buckinghamshire, England, sent the following request to the Melbourne, Australia, Teachers' college:

"As we are very keen on the study of the Dominions, we should be very pleased if some of the rural schools of Victoria would interchange letters and photographs with us. If seeds of wild flowers or of Australian shrubs could be sent, we would try to establish an Australian garden, under glass if necessary, and would send in return seeds of English flowers. I suppose a bed of Shakespearean flowers in an Australian school garden would be as great an object of interest as an Australian or South African bed would be in ours."

Here seems to be a new and very attractive idea for cultivating international friendship along with geography and gardening. We have had exchange of teachers and professors, exchange of letters between school children of different countries. But an interchange of flower seeds is different.

Of course not all southern plants can be made to grow in northern gardens nor all northern plants in southern gardens, but undoubtedly there are a good many which might be adapted to international gardens. American children could have Shakespearean gardens or gardens with various European flowers. It offers pleasing possibilities which an enterprising teacher could use to very great advantage for her pupils.

Who says the Turks are not civilized like other nations, when they base their diplomacy on oil?

AUTO PARKING LICENSES

Here is an idea which may raise a howl from motorists, but is likely to interest taxpayers in general. It comes from Boston.

License motorists for street parking. Charge, say $5.00 for every car that wants the privilege of parking on the street, and make the car carry a special parking tag. Then arrest anyone found parking without a license, and revoke the license of anyone who parks overtime or improperly.

In this way Boston would obtain a lot of new revenue, much of it from suburbanites who now "enjoy Boston's advantages without paying for them." The city would be able to regulate traffic better. There would be less crowding on the streets. Users of the streets for storage purposes would pay for the privilege.

"Offhand," says Prof. William B. Munro, professor of municipal government at Harvard, "the idea looks pretty fair to me. The automobile owner is getting off more lightly than almost any other taxpayer today, considering what he receives."

Some other cities are said to be considering the plan. If it were adopted, some provision should be made for out-of-town visitors unfamiliar with the system. And the price should be suited to the town. But those are mere details. But, some way, we can't see a system like that working in Santa Ana. After this, somebody will propose renting stalls on the streets like pews in some churches, but not in Santa Ana.

"When man acquired the power of speech," says Rudyard Kipling, "the first thing he told was a lie." Not at all. Observation of any child, or any man for that matter, will show that the first thing he says is the flat truth, stated in all the languages there are, "I want food!"

Pests and Favors Mixed

San Bernardino Sun

Because the federal horticultural board has placed a quarantine order against oranges and grapes from those districts in Spain infested with the Mediterranean fly, the retiring American ambassador to Spain has recommended to the government that the board be abolished. Its acts have interfered with the friendly diplomatic relations between the United States and Spain, so the ambassador fears.

It is more important, apparently, to the retiring ambassador that the functions of the diplomats should not be disturbed than that effective steps be taken to prevent the spread of the Mediterranean fly to the orchards of California and other states. The activities of the American ambassador to Spain, in the words of the Sacramento Union, have been "almost exclusively confined to introducing wealthy American women to the social elite in Madrid."

But we are now wondering how the diplomatic service will view the act of the California department of agriculture in placing in the mail for distribution to newspapers the editorial of the Sacramento paper which discusses the king of Spain thus:

"When he (the retiring ambassador) called on King Alfonso to bid him farewell it is reported that the Spanish monarch kissed him and called him his good friend. Plainly Mr. Moore laments that there is a Mediterranean fly in the king's kisses."

For be it known that the California department of agriculture is a part of the government of the country. But in case a diplomatic storm does break over the incident of the state of California circulating such comment, the people of the state will be found in support of the department. One of the reasons which prompted the government to act with a quarantine against infested fruits from Spain was the representations made by California of the grave danger of the spread of the pest to this state, and the terrific damage that would result. This state is spending large sums of money to protect its orchards from pests that are uncontrollable in foreign countries, and so earnest is the decision of citizens that the Mediterranean fly shall not secure a foothold in California or any place else in the United States that there will be no serious consideration for the aggrieved ambassador whose social prestige might have been endangered at Madrid because he was not able to dissuade his government from taking action that the real interests of the country dictated.

Adopt Spirit of Locarno

San Francisco Chronicle

The new spirit pervading Europe, so happily present at Locarno, has touched the Scandinavian countries, and Norway, Sweden and Denmark have entered into solemn agreements to outlaw war and to place their reliance on reason and mutual understanding.

To be sure, there have been no war clouds hovering over these countries. They were not drawn into the last great conflict, and there are no bitternesses growing out of that struggle to be conciliated. Nevertheless the old machinery for making war remained, and the same temptation existed for the making of alliances and the establishment of a balance of power. And in these were the seeds of strife.

At Locarno, Austen Chamberlain stated it as his belief that the hope of the world lies in regional compacts, bringing potential enemies into accord rather than in reliance on a general formula that shall apply to all peoples. He advocated the treatment of local irritations rather than attempting to find a panacea for all the ills of mankind. His practical view has little patience with theory.

The Scandinavian peoples have set up just such a regional compact. It is a neighborly agreement. So far as they themselves are concerned, Norway, Sweden and Denmark acknowledge that no international question can possibly arise that will not admit of friendly discussion and settlement.

What cause for rejoicing would Europe have if this same spirit of faith and understanding could be made to apply to the Balkans!

HOW TO TAKE OBJECT OUT OF THE EYE
One of the most frequent questions is, "How may one remove cinders and other foreign bodies from the eye?" Ordinarily, it is a very simple procedure to remove a loose particle, but simple as it is, few people except doctors and nurses know how to do it.

If the foreign body is embedded in the tissue of the eye consult an oculist. Delay in such cases is dangerous.

Suppose the foreign body is loose, simply floating around on the surface—what should be done? First, be sure your hands are clean. Remember that germs are both invisible and ubiquitous. Get the best light you can obtain and first expose the inner surface of the lower lid by placing the thumb just below the affected eye, pulling the lid downward, directing the patient to look up. Look carefully for the foreign body on the inner surface of the lower lid or on the lower part of the exposed eyeball. If you find it, remove it by wiping gently with the cotton on the end of a match.

Foreign bodies are most frequently found lodged on the under surface of the upper lid and to locate and remove them, you must turn the lid wrong side out. This is easy to do and easy to learn how to do, but you can learn only by doing it.

Here is how it is done. Face the patient, tell him to look down and to keep looking down. Grasp the lashes of the upper lid with your thumb and finger and hold them firmly, but do not pull. With your free hand, take a small pencil or match or a similar smooth object press gently on the upper part of the lid, lifting the lower part of the lid outward and upward, the lid will turn inside out and the foreign body will usually be easily seen.

A little of a saturated solution of boric acid may be dropped into the eye with a medicine dropper after the foreign body is removed.

Getting-by Philosophy

Southern Pacific Bulletin.

Enough to "get by." God forbid that should be the measure of our effort!

Watch the "get-by" boys. See them dawdle along filling up the time, filling up the time—"getting by" another hour, another day, another month.

But sooner or later, they all meet with hard luck. Can it be merely a coincidence—that the "get-by" boys have nearly all the hard luck? But have it they do. Eventually they will tell you themselves—somebody overlooked them, somebody did them wrong, the other fellow had all the luck.

"Get by." It's a mighty unlucky slogan.

WE BREAK NEW SEAS TODAY

Each man is captain of his soul,
And each man his own crew,
But the pilot knows the unknown seas,
And he will bring us through.

We break new seas today—
Our eager keels quest unaccustomed waters,
And, from the vast uncharted waste in front,
The mystic circles leap
To greet our prowess with mightiest possibilities,
Bringing us—what?
Dread shoals and shifting banks
And calms and storms?
And clouds and biting gales?
And wreck and loss?
And valiant fighting times?
And, maybe, death!—and so, the larger life.

For, should the pilot deem it best
To cut the voyage short,
He sees beyond the skyline, and
He'll bring us into port.
—From the Poems of John Oxenham.

The Very Idea!

A PET PEEVE

I'll sing you a song of my radio set, if you'll pardon my flats and my sharps. I've picked up most everything everyone gets, so I'll harp like most everyone harps.

I sit me at night and I turn on the juice and I tip back and smoke a cigar. Right shortly a whole flock of music's turned loose and it comes from anear and afar.

A baritone singer sings down in the deep. A soprano floats up to the skies. A lullaby lulls till I near fall asleep—but a jazz band soon opens my eyes.

And now that due credit is off of my mind, there's a peeve that I'm anxious to shout. When I know that I'm treating my radio fine, what the deuce is it squawking about?

Speaking of popular music, think of the chance Mrs. Irving Berlin has the first time Ivy forgets to post one of her letters—"You Forgot to Remember."

All's well that has an old oaken bucket in it.

He planned to meet his wife at five, But hubby came along

At six, and thus he didn't have To wait for her so long.

NOW HONESTLY—

How long has it been since you've written home to the folks?

Why, you ought to be ashamed of yourself!

Just stop and think—every day they sorta expect to hear from you. They're interested in how you are getting along.

And perhaps they wonder if you wonder how they are getting along.

What an easy thing to do—just write a letter.

How much it means. And yet you neglect it.

You'll find paper and pen wherever you keep them.

Get busy!

SIMPLY A SUGGESTION—EX-

Mayor S. C. Evans of Riverside, one of the most useful as well as busiest, men in Southern California, has finally concluded that he is too busy to take charge of the Riverside County Fair for the current year. Accompanying his courteous refusal to undertake the job, Mr. Evans sent his "regrets" in the shape of a contribution of $500 to the funds of the fair.

By the way, would it not be a good idea for the fair directors to offer the place declined by Mr. Evans to every qualified citizen of Riverside county?

Of course all who were too busy, or had other good reason for declining to accept, would "come through" as Mr. Evans did.

PRINTER'S INK PAYS—A

Pasadena man carefully lighted a cigarette, immediately after washing his hands in gasoline. Thereupon his hands became a couple of blazing torches. He rushed to a near-by print shop and plunged his hands into a barrel of printer's ink, thus extinguishing the flames and again affording proof of the fact that "it pays to use printers' ink."

Words, Words

Poor Shakespeare managed to get along in life with a vocabulary of scarce 20,000 words. Nowadays every doctor, lawyer, minister, and college graduate has at least 25,000 at his beck and call. Woodrow Wilson had 60,000 and such men as Bryan and La Follette nearer 100,000. But words unfortunately have no value in themselves. It is the use that is made of them that counts. Lincoln's Gettysburg address contained no alphabetical wonders. Wilson's greatest speeches were his simplest. Roosevelt's dom called upon more than 8,000 words and many of the world's best workers use no more than 3000. What is more important than having so many at your command, is having just the right one when you need it.—M. C. in San Jose Mercury-Herald.
